

May 26, 2011

Manufacturer to Relocate to Dayton

JBK Manufacturing & Development, an aerospace and defense industry supplier, will relocate its production operations from Greene County to Dayton by the fourth quarter of 2011.

JBK is a growing precision maker of machined parts and a Tier I supplier to customers including GE Aviation, Rolls-Royce Aerospace, Bell Helicopter, several oil companies, and others.

Following the purchase of an existing building at 2127 Troy Street in north Dayton, JBK will move 24 jobs there and create an additional 13 jobs within three years. JBK will work with the Montgomery County Job Center to facilitate hiring.

The City of Dayton is supporting JBK's move with a $40,000 development grant approved by the City Commission on May 25. JBK will invest nearly $1 million in the Dayton facility. It was also considering a location in Indiana.

BizBites Archive